REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

A Bath firm is buying the land for what will be the largest shipyard plant. It is evident this firm has not read the call for the Democratic State Convention, or they would know that the industry is dead in Maine.

Mr. Byrnes, of Indiana, who will be remembered chiefly for his obstinate performance in the House during the debate on the rules, took occasion Wednesday to assert that the Ways and Means Committee during the hearings on the tariff bill shut out the labor of the country and admitted the manufacturers. This statement was as utterly devoid of truth that even Mr. Flower, the Democratic member from New York, denied it as soon as made.

The free trade organs are in a high state of glee over Mr. Butterworth's speech on the tariff. The Ohio Congressman's utterances seem to have rankled from a two cents rising of the gut feeling, which is commercial slang with Canada. As Mr. Butterworth, however, contributes that he has no intention of voting against the tariff bill, these free trade editors who are coddling him as "happy are squaring some very bad counting books till their eyes pathway.

A Washington dispatch to the Boston Advertiser says: Two of the Massachusetts members rose to the House Wednesday to insert in the Record leaders protesting against an alleged position presented by Congressman Andrew in his recent tariff speech. The position was one asking for free coal, salt and iron ore. It was signed apparently by some of the leading firms of Massachusetts, and has been advertised extensively, and the announcement that the firms said to the petition were so most without the consent of those firms, created considerable display on the Democratic side. The letter protested by Congressman Morse was from the Fairbanks Scale Co., and not only denied that the name was used with their authority, but asserted that they were utterly opposed to the reduction asked for in the petition. Gen. Cogswell produced a letter from the Cape Ann Anchor Works to the same effect. The only explanation offered by Congressman Andrew was a personal statement to Mr. Morse that he saw the petition in a newspaper and, used it without any thorough investigation of the authenticity of the signatures.

To Prevent Needless Delay.

The action of the House Thursday will receive popular approval. Mr. Hattleigh, from the Committee on Rules, reported a resolution to regulate the tariff debate. The necessity for some such action has been made painfully plain in the past few days. The inception of the minority in ability to delay progress. Instead of devoting themselves to opposing important features of the bill the Democrats hid stand by idle discussion. It is the old fight of the minority over again. Every member has the right to vote against the bill and will have ample time to offer important amendments and force a vote on the same if the present Democratic programme of delay is stopped. The time thus the majority to do legislature from passing a tariff bill is short. The Democrats give their case away. They pretend that the bill is unpopular and will result in the defeat of the Republicans, yet they are trying to prevent its adoption, showing that the majority with to hold responsible for the measure, as the Democrats will discharge their responsibility to the country when they go on record upon the bill. They don't do Democrats do not believe what they say. They are afraid of the bill; but on account of its alleged bad effects, but because it is a protective measure and seeks to operate within tolerably distinct lines. Knowing this their hope is to prejudice the people in the hope of preventing the bill's action. The resolution offered by Mr. Hattleigh provides that the bill shall be read without interruption and shall then be open to amendment. At noon on Wednesday next the bill shall be reported to the House and voting on the amendments and pending amendments shall begin at once. The resolution was adopted by a majority of sixty-two votes and now the Democrats will have to come down to business. This is what the people want.

The Penn College Case.

Judge Penn decided to hold the respondents in the "original package" cases still his decision is in favor of the Bradley case. Gen. Hastings, who appeared for the prosecution, made much of the evidence set up by the Penn editors. They pretended that they were the agents of a Boston firm and had obtained the seized goods to sell in the original package, but Col. Hastings drew out the fact that they sell liquor by the drink and supply such orders from this store house. Hence the bottles of proof were upon them to satisfy the Court that this particular liquor was intended for sale in the original original package. However, the counsel argued that the Boston parties were the importers in this case and when they sold the liquor to the respectable who ordered the liquor as their property after its arrival here, the title secured by the decision was consummated and any further sale of the liquor was unlawful. The case was appealed to the Supreme Court. This trouble caused by the Penn decision and only in prohibition has Penn done.

Prompt Action.

Representative Hendrickson prompt in introducing a measure in Congress indemnified right the damage inflicted upon State prohibition laws by the recent decision of the Supreme Court in the original package case. The bill is in the shape of a matter which is proposed to add to the Interstate commerce act, and reads: "Nothing contained in paragraph shall be construed to prevent the sale or traffic in intoxicating liquors in any State, contrary to the laws thereof." Congressman Hendrickson is a true representative of the large temperance element in his State, whose interest in this great question he ever has in mind. It will be remembered that our Congressman was the author of the concluding paragraph of the last Republican national platform, which reads as follows:

The high character of all good government is the virtue and morality of the people and the purity of the home. The Republican party cordially sympathizes with all wise and well directed efforts for the promotion of temperance and morality.

Scarcely had the first surprise over the decision of the Supreme Court in the Iowa case began to exhibit, before our vigilant Representative in Congress, Hon. E. A. Rounds, was in his seat in the National House, and offered a bill for the amendment of the Interstate Commerce law, which, when enacted, will undo and remove all the doubts that have been thrown upon the question at issue by the nine opposed to restriction upon the liquor traffic. This amendment is contained in few words but they are decisive.

Though we have not attached any weight or significance to this judicial opinion, in so far as our own State is concerned, yet it was evident the a large number of the friends of temperance and good social order, had serious misgivings as to its effect. Much of the glow out of the last enthusiasm of those men who, a short time ago, were shouting for high heaven. There is every reason to believe that at an early day the amendatory act will be engrafted upon the Interstate Commerce law and thus temperance will carry away the honors of a positive victory, and forever put to rest this matter of importance to original packages. All honor to our Representative.

E. Dow, of Riverside, California, former resident of Foxcroft, has a very fine display of fruit at the Fruit Exchange, Boston. Mr. Dow has been in California for many years, and has a fine farm and seven horses. He says he has not been in Maine for 20 years, and is very much surprised at the growth of Foxcroft. Mr. Dow is a brother of Mrs. Dr. Hall of this town.

The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. David Dowse occurred at their residence in Prospect Ave., Saturday evening, May 10th. Mr. and Mrs. Dowse were married in Bangor fifty years ago, and have lived in this city ever since. Their children, grandchildren and great grandchildren were present, and although the weather was very unfavorable, a large number of guests were present. The house was handsomely decorated with flowers, and the occasion was a very happy one. Mr. and Mrs. Dowse received many handsome presents.

The annual meeting of the Bangor Historical Society will be held at the rooms in the Public Library building, on Monday evening, May 19th, at 7.30 o'clock. Reports of officers will be read, and the election of officers will occur, as also all other business that may come before the meeting.

Superintendents are practical men upon every part of the machinery of the Bangor & Piscataquis R. R., Milo division. The result is that the general manager of the line is relieved from the petty annoyances which would otherwise fall upon him.

The proceeds of the new hall at Stetson are being counted, and will be by a considerable sum.

The Bucksport Herald says the Methodist Church parsonage there was struck by lightning during the storm of Tuesday night. One corner was badly shattered, and a hole was made in the roof. The other corners were also damaged. The house was occupied by Rev. Mr. Bowden and family, who were all more or less shocked, but not injured.

Mrs. Willard, of Waterville, while carrying a table down stairs Tuesday, fell and fractured her right arm a little above the elbow. Her condition is critical.

A meeting of those interested in the enterprise of purchasing and remodelling the Oriental School property at Hallowell and operating the same as a temperance institution, was held at Hallowell Tuesday. It is the intention of the projectors to form a stock company, if possible, with shares at $100 per share, before the meeting of the State Homœopathic Society at Bangor in June, when, by private sale, another owner may be secured. The success of the undertaking depends upon the number of shares that can be disposed of by next month. The shares in Bangor are being taken by C. H. Dyer, Jr., and Will F. Thompson. C. H. Colburn, Hon. Joseph E. Nye, of Hallowell, and others.

Messrs. A. Chesley, Orrand Chesley and Alexander Chesley, Jr., have purchased the Cobb's Corner farm of Mrs. Sarah Cobb, and will take possession in the fall. The farm contains a large number of acres, and has a good house and barn. The Messrs. Chesley have been living on a farm in Hampden, but will now move to Bangor and engage in the milk business.

At a meeting of Dunlap Commandery No. 11, Knights Templars, held in Rockland Tuesday evening, it was voted to establish a fund of $1,000, the interest of which shall be appropriated to help the widows and orphans of deceased Knights Templars.

Notes.

The steamer is to go up on the new line of the road, with their headquarters, and the whole story of scenery can be seen. The Lake Moosehead region is already attracting many visitors, and the completion of the road will cause a large increase in the number. Persons who have been there before will find many changes. Mountains are gradually being cleared, and new houses erected. The Kineo House will be opened for the season on June 1st. The Lakewood House will be opened about the same time. The Mount Kineo House will be opened about July 1st. The Mount Kineo House will be opened about July 1st. The Mount Kineo House will be opened about July 1st.

Some time since a man went in Chicago and gave his name as Willis P. Clark, and opened an account with a bank and grocery business on North Halsted street. All went well for some time until his creditors began to grow him with "dopey" bills, and a large quantity of the goods and checks were sold at public auction by the deputy sheriff. Mr. Clark, who became suspicious of another evil power was made, a close call to be added to the list of victims of this counterfeit, and the latter has returned to Maine to spend the rest of his days.

A vigorous movement is being made in the interests of a thorough system of public school. It is proposed to have a school company, similar to the Cadet Company. A committee has been chosen to confer with the Bass River Town Company, and arrive at a decision as to the number of shares to be issued. The committee should not be long in coming to a decision, for the post office of the new town building is now ready, the cellar of which is being used by the Bass River Company. The building is to be two stories high, and will be used for the post office and other purposes. The cellar will be used by the Bass River Company.
